

SIMULATION PROCESS METHOD DEVELOPER

3DEXPERIENCE USER ROLE

DELIVER CUSTOMIZED
EXPERIENCES TO USERS
WITHOUT PROGRAMMING

Make the methods developers expertise accessible to all of the users involved in the design process

Simulation Process Method Developer helps experts deliver beautiful, customized experiences to their users without programming. With a drag-and-drop interface builder that is natively integrated with Simulation Process and Optimization and a web-based deployment framework, experts can democratize expertise faster, at lower cost and at greater scale.

Build beautiful user experiences for targeted users and applications, reducing their learning curve and improving their productivity

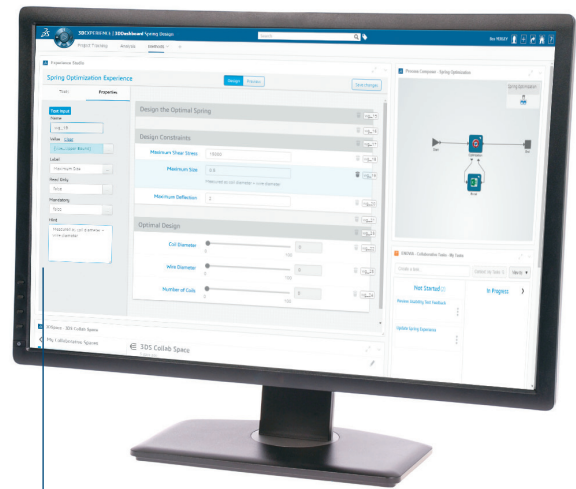

No user programming required to build custom experiences

Scale your suite of custom experiences with increased speed to deployment and reduced maintenance costs

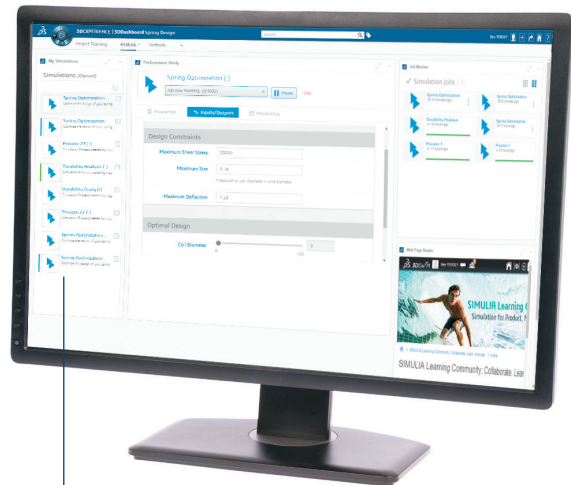

User experience best practices built-in – you don't need to be a usability expert to wow your users

User Role Highlights

- Web-based, drag-and-drop interface builder with a library of user interface elements to control every user touch-point
- Designed from the ground-up to integrate with SIMULIA Process Composer, a drag-and-drop process authoring app
- Deployment governance to control which experiences are available to which users and all experiences are hosted in the via 3DDashboards
- No customizations to maintain or upgrade

Web-based, drag-and-drop interface builder with a growing library of user interface elements to control every user touch-point.
